

My First Books of Sanatana Scripture

First Steps -Forever Values

A Fun Journey Through Hinduism's Holy Books for Kids!

My First Book of Sanatana Scriptures

FOR KIDS
STORIES OF GODS & WISDOM

A FUN JOURNEY THROUGH HINDUISM'S HOLY BOOKS FOR KIDS!

RESEARCH & COMPOSED BY JOYDEEP BANERJEE

Published By VEHD Digital Prakashan,
Gurugram, Haryana (India)
E-mail: info.vehds@gmail.com, website : www.vehd.in ; www.tejomay.in Contribution Amount Rs. 19/-

Images are Credited from World Wide Web

©Digital Copyright Protected by Author

What are Sanatana Scriptures?

Hello, little friends! Sanatana means “forever and ever.” Our scriptures are like magical storybooks from long, long ago. They tell us about love, kindness, friendship, and the secrets of the universe!

Think of them like treasure maps. If we follow their clues—be kind, tell the truth, help others—we find the biggest treasure of all: a happy heart!

Hinduism has many holy books, like the Ramayana, Mahabharata, and Bhagavad Gita. Each one is full of adventures, heroes, and lessons that make us better people.

Let's start our magical scripture journey

Hinduism has many holy books, like the Vedas, Upanishads, Ramayana, Mahabharata, and Bhagavad Gita. Each one is full of adventures, heroes, and lessons that make us better people.

The Vedas : Songs of Wisdom

The Vedas are the oldest books in Hinduism, like a giant library of songs and prayers. There are four Vedas: Rig, Yajur, Sama, and Atharva. They teach us how to live kindly, love nature, and respect the stars above.

The First Book – The Rig Veda is the oldest book in the world that people still read today

The Rig Veda has over 1,000 hymns!
That's like 1,000 little songs for the universe

Close your eyes and imagine a bright golden sun smiling down at you, the wind singing with the trees, and the rivers humming along— that's the world of the Vedas!

The Upanishads: Big Ideas for Little Hearts

Discover the Secrets of Life with The Upanishad. The Upanishads are like magic storybooks that tell us we're all part of one big family—people, animals, trees, and stars .

Ocean Connection – The Upanishads say we are all like drops in a big ocean—different, yet part of the same water.

Upanishads means “sitting near a teacher.”

Like whispering secrets from a wise friend.

Bhagavad Gita means “The Song of God.”

The Bhagavad Gita is like a magical conversation between Prince Arjuna and Lord Krishna, his friend and guide.

Grow Every Day – Learn a little, improve a little, and keep moving forward

Krishna's Guide: Be Brave, Be Kind

It's like a superhero book that teaches us to do our best and be kind every day

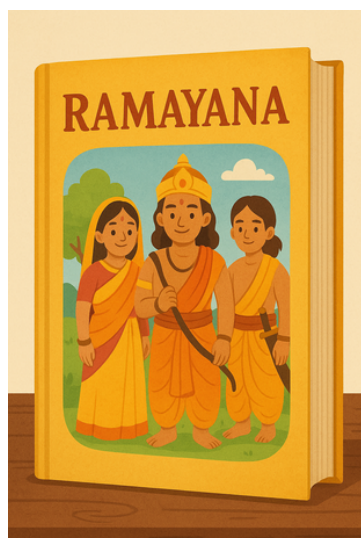

The Ramayana: The Adventure of Prince Rama

Respect your parents and elders, stand by your friends, help those in need, and remember—goodness, truth, love, and courage always win over evil

The Mahabharata: The Great Story of Right and Wrong

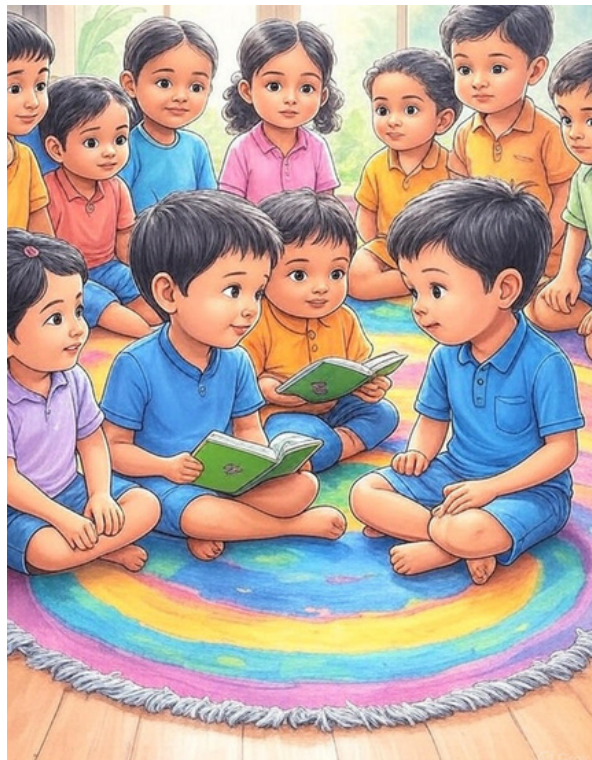

It tells the tale of two groups of cousins—the Pandavas and the Kauravas—who had a big disagreement about ruling a kingdom.

The Mahabharata teaches us to choose what is right, even when it's hard, and to be honest, brave, and fair to everyone.

Knowing the names of Hindu scriptures like the Vedas, Upanishads, Bhagavad Gita, Ramayana, Mahabharata, and Puranas helps children:

1. Build Cultural Identity : Recognizes their heritage and connects them to their roots.
2. Understand Values : Introduces them to stories that teach kindness, bravery, and duty.
3. Encourage Curiosity : Sparks interest in exploring these ancient texts as they grow.
4. Respect Diversity : Familiarity fosters appreciation for different beliefs and traditions.
5. Enhance Knowledge : Provides a foundation for learning about history and philosophy in a simple way.

Dear Friends and Seekers of Vedic Wisdom,
Support Vedantic Gurukul's mission to share Indic wisdom , Your donation helps sustain our Wisdom Library and create more kids' books like "My First Book of Sanatana Scriptures." Donate today—every contribution preserves our heritage!

With gratitude,

Vedantic Gurukul Team

जय
श्री कृष्णा

